GSM Stand-alone Module

Overview

This GSM Gateway works with a SIM card to provide you with a mobile connection to our 24/7 Monitoring Centre. It is designed to attach easily to most social alarm base units. It can be used as a backup system or in place of a landline connection where there is adequate mobile network coverage.

The GSM Gateway is a cost effective option for people who already own a Social Alarm but no longer wish to have a landline connection in their home.

How it works

The GSM Gateway connects your Panic Button or any other Telecare devices in your home to our 24/7 Monitoring Centre. It functions in a similar way to a mobile telephone, as it works over a mobile cellular network. This type of connection is independent of the fixed-line network or broadband connection of the subscriber.

A SIM card slot allows easy programming. It is equipped with a series of LEDs that show its status and signal strength. Additional functions are available such as quick dialling, forbidden calls indication and volume adjustment.
